Investigation was started by the

Investigation was started by the police vesterday to determine identity of the driver of an automobile which knocked down Patrick Feeney, forty-five years of age, a plumber, of 2113 Pennsylvania avenue and left him lying unconscious in the center of the roadway of I street near the junction with 21st street Friday night shortly after 7 o'clock.

All that the police have been able to learn thus far is that two white men picked up the unconsclous form and telephoned for the Emergency Hospital ambulance. Dr. L. P. Burke saw the men when the ambulance arrived, but, in the rush to treat the wounded man, failed to obtain their names. At the hospital it was found that the injured man was suffering from a probable fracture of the skull and deep incisions about the head.

Detective Arthur B. Scrivener was detailed to make a special study. Detective Artnur B. Scrivener was detailed to make a special study of the case. Feeney was still unconscious at noon, in a critical condition.
